

Watco Transportation Services Announcement

Date: December 9, 2011
To: Watco Team
From: Rodney Gordon, Regional Vice President, East Region
Subject: Rick Hollis, Regional Chief Engineer, East Region

I am pleased to announce that Rick Hollis has accepted the position of Regional Chief Engineer, East Region.

Rick's responsibilities will be to provide technical support for Watco's field forces, support Watco's Customer First! Foundation Principles and to ensure our field forces continually achieve outlined performance exceptions. He will work closely with all departments, as well as local, state, and federal entities to provide an understanding of rail projects for capital improvements and possible funding.

Rick began his railroad career in 1985 with the Jefferson Warrior Railway as a Trainmaster, and finished out there as Roadmaster. In 1997 he became Superintendent of Maintenance at the Columbus and Greenville Railway in Mississippi. In 2010 Rick came to work with Watco at the Alabama Warrior Railway and has been the Roadmaster since October of 2010.

Rick and his wife Andrea have three sons, Andy, Christopher, and Lance, and four grandchildren. When not working Rick spends his time on the golf course.
