

Watco WA Rail Announcement

Date: January 17, 2012
To: Watco Team
From: Jim Griffiths, Western Australia, Chief Operating Officer
Subject: Chris Ellis, Customer Service Logistics Officer

I am pleased to announce that Chris Ellis has joined the Watco Western Australia Rail (WWAR) Team as a Customer Service Logistics Officer. Chris will be responsible for assisting our Customer Service Logistic Manager with the day to day zone logistics planning with an emphasis on Customer service.

Chris started his working career in the UK as an apprentice football player which lasted three years until he injured his ankle. Chris then went onto university , Manchester in the UK, to study 3D design. To pay for his studies he worked part time as a bartender which led to him working full time where he worked his way in to Management. He then immigrated to Australia with his partner where he worked for Bunning's Warehouse as an operations team member.

Chris and his partner Natalie of four years have one son Jacob, 2 1/2 and they are expecting their second child in March.

Chris is interested in design, drawing portraits, painting and airbrushing. He still enjoys a good game of soccer (football) and plays whenever he can.
